7. Problem
Paragraphs 2.2.4.2 System Messages: 1.) While this paragraph does not list the system messages (rather it refers to the custom and application software), the subparagraph begin to list some, but not all, the detail software requirements for system messages. 2.) Identifying system message requirements implies a software architecture that is not specified in the SLS.
8. Recommendation
1.) Since the subparagraphs do not collect all the requirements for the system messages software (it has yet to be developed), reference a System Messages CSCI, and move the subparagraphs to the CSCI. 2.) Include a section in the SLS that covers the CLCS Software Architecture requirements.
9. Impact if recommendation not implemented
1) There will be less need to update the SLS to reflect changes as the system messages software is developed. 2) Acknowledge the CLCS proposed software architecture.

1. The RID Management Team has rejected this RID and agrees that the proposed change(s) neither provide a valid clarification nor satisfy a system specification omission. Thank you for your submittal.
